

National Recovery Friendly Workplace Certification

What Is a Recovery Friendly Workplace?

A Recovery Friendly Workplace (RFW) is a place of work in which the employer, in collaboration with employees, establishes, maintains, and continually enhances policies, practices, and a culture and work environment that are supportive of current and prospective employees in recovery from, or otherwise affected by, substance use disorders (SUD).

"RFW does not bring the problem to the workplace; it brings the solution to a problem that already exists."

Why RFW Matters

- Substance use in the workforce is widespread and untreated SUD is extremely costly to employers ($81 billion annually)
- 2/3 of U.S. households are affected by SUD, but people spend a bulk of their time at work making workplaces powerful platforms to support recovery and reduce stigma
- 14 million U.S. employees working full time are in long term recovery with an additional 27 million U.S. employees with an active SUD
